INVITATION TO SUPPORT PROS 2024

Dear Industry Partners,

It gives me great pleasure to invite you to join us for the Paediatric Radiation Oncology Society Congress in Sydney, Australia from 19 to 22 June 2024. This biennial event is a highlight for all professions involved in the use of radiation to treat children's cancer: not just radiation or clinical oncologists, but also therapeutic radiographers or radiation therapists, and radiotherapy physicists or clinical scientists (the names used for different roles vary around the world) and other members of the wider multi-professional team involved in the care of these patients.

PROS is a truly global coalition of people whose aspiration is to improve the care of children and young people with cancer through optimising the use of all forms of radiation treatment - not just photons and protons, but brachytherapy and molecular radiotherapy. Please come and meet the diverse group of people involved in this essential aspect of paediatric oncology. You will hear about clinical trials for specific diseases, gain a better understanding of multi-modality care, learn about the latest technical advances in radiotherapy delivery, see what can be done to minimise the risk of late effects and get to appreciate the psycho-social as well as physical aspects of care more deeply.

There will be a mixed format of clinical trial updates, invited presentations, proffered papers and posters, and ample time for networking with like-minded people from other countries in a warm social environment. I hope to see you then.

With very best wishes

Mark Gaze
President, PROS

ABOUT PROS

PROS

PAEDIATRIC RADIATION ONCOLOGY SOCIETY

The history of the Paediatric Radiation Oncology Society dates back to 2005, when with great foresight, Christian Carrie convened the first international meeting of our niche sub-speciality in Lyon France. Of course, previously we had attended meetings on radiotherapy in general, and on all aspects paediatric oncology - but in both arenas there had been no special focus on the use of radiation to treat cancers in children and young people. Based on the success of this first meeting, the formal incorporation of PROS soon followed. We have established a pattern of an independent PROS congress every other year, alternating with meetings as part of the International Society of Paediatric Oncology - the SIOP Congress. So far we have had meetings in Europe, Asia and North America - and now we are looking forward to our first meeting in Australia in 2024.

Several features make PROS special, its multi-professional membership and its global reach being particularly important. While most children's cancer research takes place on either side of the North Atlantic - far and away most children with cancer live in Asia, Africa and South America. One aim is to try and bring the highest standards of radiation oncology to the least advantaged countries of the world. Both the PROS Congress, and many other activities undertaken by PROS either alone or working collaboratively with other organisations, serve to achieve this.
